

You are probably reading this to find out what to expect at a Chico Chica show. We formed the group in 2010 with the premise that the players sing and the singers play so we do just that; playing piano, guitar, flute, percussion, flugelhorn and cavaquinho while taking it in turns to sing the lead vocal. And there will be dancing.

Someone once said 'angels can fly because they take themselves lightly'. So we will be soaring across the British Isles with a brand new, original show of light-hearted songs and spoken word. The music is infused with latin rhythms and jazz harmonies and the lyrics touch on subjects as diverse as love (yes really), volcanos, female beauty, scientific research, dating sites and the art market. And there will be dancing.

The songs merge into each other with interweaving spoken and sung sections forming a linear whole. But within the two 45 minute sets there will be enough spontaneity and improvisation to encourage you to come back and see the show again and again. And there will be dancing.
