WELCOME

As 2024 comes to a close our attentions turn towards the New Year and our Spring Season which runs from January through to the end of April.

This programme particularly reflects our updated Artistic Vision for The Quay and a large part of this is our commitment going forward to expand our offering for families, with no fewer than six shows during the school holidays for children and their adults. Puffling Percy is a charming puppet adventure and The People's Theatre Company musical Storytime : The Big Egg is an ideal Easter treat. In February, Half A String Productions make their Quay debut with the enchanting Breathe, telling the story of a wild woodland world in miniature from the perspective of an acorn whilst Top Secret – The Magic of Science promises experiments, mysteries and mess! All these shows have either Family Ticket savings or concessions for children.

Another focus is developing our comedy programme and we're delighted to welcome Geoff Norcott back for not one, but two dates of Work In Progress. In addition we have the comic stylings of Barbara Nice, Kevin Precious with musings on his previous career in education as The Reluctant Teacher and Henry Normal who is joined by comedy legend Nigel Planer.

Our commitment to drama continues, as Eastern Angles bring their latest production, Sophia to Sudbury in March whilst 'Sherlock Holmes Strikes Back' courtesy of the team at Don't Go Into The Cellar. Isosceles return with Murder - Just What The Doctor Ordered whilst Old School Theatre are presenting A Dolls House Part Two, Lucas Hnath's 2017 play which picks up the story where Ibsen's 1879 classic concludes as their first production at The Quay.

Music wise we are especially delighted to welcome 18 piece Big Band The Horn Factory to The Quay for the first time as well as acclaimed singer and songwriter for the stars Charlie Dore.

Finally be sure not to miss this year's Andrew Phillips History Evenings and our programme of National Theatre Live and Royal Opera and Ballet screenings.

We look forward to seeing you soon.
