

We have grown up with the idea that only the fittest survive; you surely remember "The survival of the fittest", "Winner takes it all", "The first past the post", you get the picture.

That is the kind of thinking that brought us to where we are today. It means that there are an awful lot of people who are not first past the post. And what a mess we are all in!

How can we help to make the world a peaceful paradise when there are such terrible things happening in the world?

The first thing to realise is that there are millions and millions of people across the planet who want to live in a peaceful paradise where there is plenty for all and everyone has the opportunity to reach their full potential?

Why wouldn't you want that? If you don't want that, why don't you?

The second thing that you should know is that there is a very powerful network on this planet that is working very hard to convince us that we should be afraid of each other because we are different to each other in some way.

It has been established for all of the history of humanity so it started a long time before any of us were born which is why we are unaware of it because this is the way it has always been.....

The fact that each of the major religions sees itself as right and the others as either infidels or the axis of evil must make you realise that something has gone wrong with them. It doesn't matter how you look at it, it can only amount to "I'm right, you're wrong!" which is bound to lead to a fight. It reminds me of the playground with kids taunting each other with "My dad's better than your dad", that always ended up in a fight too. Which of course is what is happening all over the world today.

When politicians/leaders choose to use their "belief in God or Allah" to justify their violent attacks on ordinary men, women and children does that sit well with you? Does your god really condone this kind of behaviour? Are we not all children of the same god?

We need to wake up to the "Divide and conquer" mentality that has been perpetrated throughout the whole world. Because until we realise that we have been set up we will continue to be manipulated.
