Test Valley
Borough Council

www.testvalley.gov.uk

Introduction

Lying in the heart of Test Valley, the wide picturesque Stockbridge High Street reflects its early role as part of a drovers road where it was common to see flocks of sheep or herds of cattle being driven through the town en route from Wales. Seek out the Drovers House and you can still spot a sign in Welsh. The town of Stockbridge, with its long and varied history, has inspired many poets over the years and there is a trail of ten poems, set in stone, metal plaques and etched glass, for you to follow as you wander through the town, discovering its treasures.

INSETS: WWW.GEOGRAPHY-ONE.UK MAIN: TEST VALLEY BOROUGH COUNCIL

Did you know?
 Founded in 1882, the Houghton Fishing Club is the oldest fishing club in England and is based in the town.

A brief history

The River Test flows through this delightful Hampshire town. Its wide street has an abundance of eateries and independent retailers including outdoor pursuits, fashion and gift shops.

Stockbridge means, literally, a bridge over the river. On a causeway of compressed chalk laid down in the remote past for a crossing of the River Test, Stockbridge is almost midway between Andover to the north and Romsey to the south. The river is shallow and divides here into five streams which thread their way through the marshy meadows and under the main road.

There were settlements on Stockbridge Down from at least the second millennium BC; within a short distance are the impressive earthworks at Danebury, Meon Hill and Woolbury. Two ancient roads meet and cross at Stockbridge, one running east to west between Winchester and Old Sarum, later Salisbury, and the other running north and south along the valley of the Test. The prosperity of Stockbridge has always stemmed largely from the roads which pass through it.

The valley here is wide enough to have provided a river crossing since earliest times and a posting station in Roman times on the road from Winchester to Sarum. The 'town' (actually little more than a single row of buildings on each side of the wide main street) grew in importance when Welsh drovers rested there with their flocks on their way to various sheep fairs and markets in the South East. A thatched cottage known as 'Drovers House' has the message in Welsh painted on the wall: 'Seasoned hay, tasty pastures, good beer, comfortable beds'.

Stockbridge has a 12th century chapel, now known as St Peter's, which was served by the 'head-minster' at King's Somborne, as were other chapels in the 'hundred'. Thus, although Stockbridge became a flourishing small borough, which eventually gained parliamentary representation, it never had a parish church of its own until 1848. Its inhabitants were duly christened, married and buried, but in a chapel served from King's Somborne.

Did you know?
 The Prince of Wales, Edward VII, used to nip down to Stockbridge for the races bringing his mistress, Lillie Langtry, with him.

Events at a glance

Stockbridge is not just a collection of lovely shops; with its wide Georgian High Street, it's also a venue for events and activities which celebrates the seasons and brings complementary opportunities to residents and visitors alike. Visit our website www.testvalley.gov.uk/tourism to see what other events are planned in the area throughout the year.

A Taste of Italy

A traditional Italian market visits Stockbridge in April. Eighteen stalls decorated with the 'Tricolore' Italian flag selling food direct from Italian producers. Take your pick from a wide range of delicious cheeses, cured meats, olive oils, balsamic vinegars and pastas in all shapes and sizes. You will find a wide selection of speciality breads. Also Italian biscuits and sweets to tempt those with a sweet tooth.

Trout 'n About Festival - local food, produce and crafts

Held in August, Stockbridge celebrates the town's reputation as a destination for food lovers. There are around sixty stalls along the High Street from 10am until 4pm. There is a wide variety of goods to buy including fresh and smoked trout, Hampshire buffalo meat and venison, ice-cream, bread, cakes, rapeseed oil and jams. Cookery demonstrations will be held throughout the day. Local pubs and restaurants will be offering taster dishes with a voucher scheme to enable visitors to try dishes. A must visit. Most of the shops are also open to add to the festival atmosphere. www.mastockbridge.co.uk

Christmas Shopping

To get you into the festive spirit and give you a chance to do your Christmas shopping in a relaxed atmosphere, Stockbridge holds a late night event every year which is held in the 1st week of December. There will be carols around the church tree as well as a chance to visit Santa's Grotto. Mulled wine and festive foods will be on offer throughout the evening whilst you wander around Stockbridge's collection of one-off shops offering a wide range of wonderful gifts. Then perhaps to finish the evening, why not visit one of the many excellent eateries in Stockbridge. A perfect ending to a wonderful evening....

Events at a glance

Daffodil Run

This annual event takes place on a Sunday in April. Hundreds of vintage cars gather in Stockbridge for coffee on their spring run to the New Forest. These beautiful cars are decorated with daffodils. A must for old car enthusiasts.

Open Gardens Weekend

In June many gardens in Stockbridge are opened by the NGS, principally in aid of cancer research. www.ngs.org.uk

Also during the last weekend in July the gardens are open again in aid of the church, with teas on the church lawn. Well worth a visit, some really beautiful treasures to be seen.

Get the most from your day out

HAMPSHIRE RECORD OFFICE www.hants.gov.uk/archives

Stockbridge lies at the heart of the popular Test Valley and features many circular walks for the casual walker, some of which link into longer distance routes. Wonderful features are close at hand: Stockbridge Marsh, which walkers can reach direct from the High Street and Stockbridge Down, with its panoramic views across the valley, are both owned by the National Trust. Just up the hill towards Salisbury is one of the most famous Iron Age Hill Forts in England – Danebury. The Sprat and Winkle Line, once a railway line linking Southampton and Andover is now part of the Test Way long distance footpath and runs through Stockbridge. For further information visit www.hants.gov.uk/walking

Stockbridge to Mottisfont Walk

Using the old railway line, the path passes through Stockbridge Common - a quiet world of reedbeds and waterfowl. Here, beside the water, the Clarendon Way (which stretches from Winchester to Salisbury) crosses the valley just before you reach the ancient crossing point of Horsebridge. Continue past one of the few remaining old railway stations (now privately owned). On to Lower Brook, cross the meadows and finish this section on grass tracks at the famous Mottisfont Abbey, a National Trust property whose walled kitchen garden holds the national collection of old-fashioned roses. www.3.hants.gov.uk

Clarendon Way

A 24-mile walk joining the two Wessex cities of Winchester and Salisbury, The Clarendon Way crosses the Test Valley between King's Somborne and Houghton. It starts beside the waters of the Itchen in the heart of Winchester, passing the Horse Monument at Farley Mount (pictured) and ends near the Avon at Salisbury Cathedral. It provides a splendid variety of scenery along the way, ranging from the water meadows of the valleys with their charming villages through woodland – ancient as well as modern – to downlands with far-ranging views. www.3.hants.gov.uk

Testway Walk

This 44-mile long-distance walking route takes you from its dramatic start, high on the chalk downs at Inkpen, to follow much of the course of the River Test to Eling where its tidal waters flow into Southampton Water. This is without doubt Hampshire's longest and finest chalk stream, world famous for its superb trout fishing (not public use). www.3.hants.gov.uk

There are many other visitor attractions within easy-striking distance of Stockbridge and even more picturesque villages around the area to explore. It has three churches and like many of the beautiful villages in the Test Valley, these are celebrated in a leaflet and book called The Churches of Test Valley. Also look out for the Test Valley Visitor Guide available from Tourist Information Centres.

Stockbridge's ancient Courts Baron and Leet are convened and sit in the Town Hall on the second Wednesday in March every year, as they have since the Middle Ages. Courts consist of a jury of 12 local people, chosen differently each year, presided over by the lord of the manor. Their function is to consider current problems concerning the common land (the Down and the Marsh) and other local issues. All are welcome.

Did you know?
Courts Baron and Leet were regular features of English rural life from the middle ages to the first half of the 19 Century.

Houghton, Stockbridge SO20 6LH, Tel: 01794 388 310

Situated in the rural and tranquil setting of Houghton, just outside Stockbridge, we are a traditional Free House bar serving a selection of cask ales and carefully chosen wines. Our restaurant offers an extensive menu ranging from bar snacks to full meal specialities that change frequently. We further offer an idyllic beer garden, with its very own unique purpose built bar and grill, running down to the world renowned River Test. Dining in the garden is completely weather dependent so we advise to ring ahead to check it's open.

The Boot Inn warmly welcomes walk-in diners to our bar, restaurant and riverside grill however, the restaurant is extremely popular with our locals so we recommend that you reserve your table in advance, this especially applicable during weekends. To reserve your table please call us on 01794 388 310

We are committed to using high-quality local suppliers wherever possible and closely follow the seasons which are reflected in our menus with freshly made dishes ranging from our succulent roast sirloin of beef, grouse exclusively sourced from a famous Scottish Highland Estate, to smoked trout from the River Test. All our meat and poultry comes from Stockbridge's famous and awardwinning John Robinson & Sons.

Every dish on our menu is homemade and our delicious bread is freshly prepared and baked on the premises every morning. We also have an ever changing 'Catch of the day' menu which boasts numerous succulent fish dishes fresh in every day.
